Russian Concessions-Austrian Meeting of the Congress. By Cable to the News. LONDON, June 1 .- The Times' St.

Petersburg despatch says, the public are semi-officially warned not to believe the various reports concerning conces sions by Russia. The people, nevertheless, fear they are too great.

A special to the Standard from Copenhagen reports that Russia has purchased the fast Swedish steamer Mertala, to be used as a cruiser.

A despatch to the Standard from Vienna says, Austria intends to concentrate troops on the river Sav.

The Daily News, in a leader, says: We have reason to believe that early next week Parliament will be informed of the arrangements concluded for the meeting of the Congress.

The Times, in a leading article, does not fully endorse the sanguine state-ments of the Daily News and Standard, and considers that a number of details remain on which an understanding may be well thought desirable.

The Agence Russe says: Congres will hold only one session, during which the basis of peace will be settled and the final treaty signed.

The Investigating Committee.

By Telegraph to the News. WASHINGTON, June 1 .- All of the members of the Potter resolution committee are present. The Florida subcommittee consists of Hunton, Springer and Hiscock.

James E. Anderson, the first witness. said he had seen the decument known as the Sherman protest; it had been altered; was not the same as when signed by him, Anderson. There were two or three additional paragraphs to the document and it was filled in in several places. Anderson was of opinion, because he would not carry out the idea of Kellogg and others, that they were desirous of driving um out of the parish. Kellogg wished Anderson to rally the negroes at two of the polls and let the others go Democratic, remarking further that witness could get up a disturbance and have the Democratic vote thrown out. A document was produced purporting to be an affidavit signed witness and Weber, Supervisor of West Felicinia parish, wherein they re'used to sign a protest against the elections in their parishes; the original of this affidavit, witness said, was recently in possession of Stanley Matthews. The witness and Weber had an interview with Sherman at Molair's Restaurant in New Orleans, who said: Gentlemen, I understand there is a difficulty in your respective parishes; this is the time when the assistance of every Republican and true patriot is needed. and I trust that you will stand by us. They were assured by Mr. Sherman that they would be cared for, as Mr. Hayes could control the Federal patronage. All he desired was for them to stand firm and let the record run along as it is. The witness presented what purported to be a copy of a letter from Sherman, but the Republicans objected to its being read, until Sherman had seen it and recognized it as a copy of his reply to Anderson and Weber.

The examination promises to be very Before the investigating committee Anderson testified that there were no protests on the return mailed by him from East Feliciania. He went to New Orleans, where he met Marshal Pitkin. who asked him if there were any protests. Witness replied no. Pitkin asked why. Witness replied, Because there was more intimidation done by Repub. licans than by Democrats. Later, Pitkin met witness and wished he would make some protests, as the Presidential election hinged on Louisiana. He brought a protest which witness refused to sign; other protests already prepared were brought to witness, one of which he signed, to the effect that he did not protest in the parish because he was afraid of his life. Another protest was signed by Thos. A. Jencks and a deputy and properly refused to allow any such United States Marshal.

Copy of letter alleged to have been cessions of great length, glistening silveritten by Weber and Anderson to ver caskets, and carved marble monu-"We have carefully considered the arguments used by you, which, if we comply with, we will have

If we pull together, Packard, Kellogg, heil and the returning board, cannot carry the State for Hayes. We are young, and if we win can get a reputation that might take us years to re-

The witness stated that he had asked Mr. Townsend to subpæna him before the Morrison Committee, when he was in New Orleans, and that Governor Kellogg had come to him in the afternoon, and said, "for God's sake not to do it. That there ought to be no question asked him which would lead to others, which would ruin the whole thing.'

At one o'clock the committee took a recess until 1:30 o'clock.

In a letter of the witness to one Pierre Butler, of East Feliciana, dated November 16th, 1876, which was read, it appears that Anderson was in com-munication with Major Burke, a managing (La.) Democrat, and that Burks offered him $4,000 to carry East Feliciana parish for Tilden.

Secretary Sherman was placed on the witness stand. Chairman Potter submitted to him the letter which Anderson claims was written by Sherman to Webber and himself. After reading it carefully, Sherman said he had never written such a letter; at the same time he said there were things in the letter he would have written, but he does not believe he ever wrote lt. Mr. Hiscock objected. A vote was taken on reading the letter, and it was adopted by a party vote, other than that Ben Butler dodged. The letter was read as follows:

"New Orleans, Nov. 20, 1876.
"D. A. Weber and James E. Anderson "Gentlemen, -Your note of even date just received. Neither Mr. Hayes, myself, or any of the gentlemen with me. can forget the obligations under which you will have placed us if you stand firm in the position you have taken. From a long acquaintance with Mr. Hayes, I am justified in assuming the esponsibility for the promises made in guaranteeing that you shall be taken care of." The letter concludes with an assurance of protection if they leave the state, and is signed John Sherman.

Anderson testified that he made an application to the President for a conalship, and that the President endorsed the paper in his case to Sectetary Evarts: Please appoint this man to is a special case. (Signed) consulship in some warm climate. This

Pennsylvania Paper. A decision of a Pennsylvania Judge strikes very properly at the foolish cus-tom of having showy and costly funer-als, whether the family of the deceased can afford it or not. Under any circumstances, the setting up a tawdry parade on such occasions is in exceeding bad taste; but when the cost be comes a positive burden to the family it is still more inexcusable. The decision arose out of the application of an administrator for an allowance on account of burial expenses, which amounted to one hundred and thirty-nine dollars and seventy-five cents, when the total personal property left by the deceased was only five hundred and eighcharge, declaring that "pompous proments are necessary for christian burials." WASHINGTON, May 31. The Hon. Jos. J. Davis made one of speeches of the session on Wednesday night. It will appear in extenso in the Record of to-morrow, and will command popular attention. It was upon the general subject of claims against the government, and, though not written out, was prepared with great care and accuracy in the presentation of facts and figures. Mr. Davis dissected, with scathing analyses, the numerous misrepresentations to which our people nave been subjected in connection with this whole matter, and showed that the "little finger" of the North had been greater than "the lions" of the South. He replied, successively, to recent speeches of Hayes, of Illinois, Hannan, Indiana, Cummings, of Iowa, and Joyce, of Vermont. on the subject of Southern claims, and exposed their garbled statements and insidious fall scies with indignant and trenchant severity. For the sake of making the case stronger against the South than the facts justify, and thereby exciting the apprehensions and prejudices of the orthern mind, more than one of these Republican speakers had grossly exaggerated the aggregate of Southern claims, by false classification and by duplication upon duplication. Mr. Da-vis exposed these tricks in a thorough and caustic manner. It is due to him to state that while he denounced this wind bag clamor against "rebel claimants," and presented a powerful argu-ment to disabuse the Northern mind of its misconception, he did not deem it necessary to apologise for the South in presenting any proper claim against the government: she was a constituent part of the Union, entitled to a full share of its protection and benefits, as she cheerfully contributed her quota of taxation to its support, and her people had a right to a respectful and fair hearing and consideration of their just and lawful demands. And while it was true that the amount of money appropriated to the North was immensely in excess of that bestowed upon the South, still, said Mr. Davis, he should hold himself unworthy the name of man and representative, if, when an honest or meritorious claim was presented to him, he should stop to enquire from what nation t came. This admirable speech of our Representative has made a fine impres sion, and will probably be circulated in large numbers as a most valuable cam-paign document, bristling, as it does, with so many telling and pungent truths, presented with that force, ear-

What Happened When Old Mad

Wells had the Room Cleared. Washington P st. Among the witnesses that will be called before the Potter investigating committee is C. H. Pyles, lately a messenger in the pension office in this city. Pyles was one of four pages employed by the returning board in New Orleans in November, 1876. He was intrusted with the duty of taking the mail from the postoffice daily, and was used to tamper with the returns from the parishes. These returns were taken to a room and opened, so as not to disturb the seals, and forged protests put in them. It was the habit of Wells during the examination of these papers by the returning beard, whenever he came to one of these returns containing a protest, to have the room cleared of all visitors while the paper was being examined by the board. Pyles is prepared to swear that nineteen out of the twenty-seven parishes in which protests were filed were on forged affidavits and jurats fabricated in the city of New Orleans. He is supposed to have other interesting information to lay before the committee.

General Scales, the efficient Chairn.an of the Committee on Indian Affairs, achieved a signal victory by his bill transfering the Indian Bureau from the Interior to the War Department. The publication of Post Master General Key's letter created considerable comment among members of Congress to-day. The Democrats are unanimous in condemnation of Mr. Key's course of action. Not alone do they deprecate the attempt which Mr. Key has made to rend the Democratic party in the South, but his Southern friends speak contemptuously of him as a man who has lost his mental balance. The Republicans intimate that if Mr. Key had not expressed his sentiments as he did, party influence with the President would have made a new Postmaster

COMMENTS OF SENATORS. Senator Hill, of Georgia :

The only effect of Key's letter is to Senator Harris, of Tennessee.

The publication of this letter is very unfortunate for Key, particularly in our State. His intention was to disorganize the Democratic party in the South and to build an Administration party on the ruins, but his letter will not serve that purpose. Mr. Key knows, as every sensibie, man must know, that the Democrats who passed the Potter resolution have no intention of disturbing Hayes's title. The Investigatoin of the Florida and Louisiana election frauds was a democratic movement. Mr. Key does not possess the power to demoralize the Democratic party in the South in the slightest.

Senator Maxey, of Texas. Key has made a fool of himself. His letter will have no effect in the South, but I can't tell what its influence will be in the North. Key is not the proper person to write such a letter. His position does not bear him out in so doing. He leaped from the Democratic party into the Administration of another party. Neither Democrats nor Republicans have confidence in him. I do not approve the investigation, believing that the Democrats have already a sufficently good case of fraud to go before the country with, but I never have believed that an investigation meant an attempt to impugn Hayes's title. Senator Morgan, of Alabama.

Judge Key's letter will have no effect on the people of the South, except to disgust them with its author. When the Senate confirmed Key he said in my hearing that he had told Hayes before accepting a cabinet position that he believed Tilden was honestly elected. This letter is simply an attempt on Key's part to disintegrate the Democratic party of the South. But it can't be done. The Democrats of the South do not want a member of a Republican Cabinet to take out letters of guardianship over them, Key is a man of sense, I think, and he must know that no intelligent member of either of the two great parties dreams of invalidating Hayes's title to the Presidency. The decision of the Electoral Commission on that point was final.

THE COLORADO BEETLE.

Letter from the Commissioner of Agriculture-De cription of the Bug-The Damuge He Does--Remedy for Extermination-Specimens Wanted. correspondence of the News. RALEIGH, June 1st.

Apprehensions having been expressed that this bug, which has been so destructive to the potatoe and other crops in the western and northwestern States, has made its appearance in Cumberland and Warren counties, I respectfully ask, for the information of our farmors, space in your columns for such description of it as I have been able to learn from the most authentic sources.

DESCRIPTION AND HABITS. It is known as Doryphora decem lineata, or western ten-nued potato-bug-was first found in Arkansas and Missouri in the year 1823, where it was feeding on the vine of a species of wild potato. On farms it feeds chiefly on the potato, tomato, egg-plant, thorn apple, black henbane, &c. Its eggs—from the number of seven to twelve N. H. Smith, of Raleigh; and our decided preference over all competitors leaves of the potato. The larvæ hatch out in a few days, and feed from seventeen to twenty days. Their powers of multiplication are so great that the Canadian Entomologist estimates that a single pair, if allowed to increase unmolested, would, in one season, produce over sixty millions. There are generally three broods annually, the last brood remaining underground all winter and appearing as perfect beetles the following spring. The larva is at first of a dark reddish brown, but becomes paler and brightens as it matures. among so many contestants, the exi-gencies of the party should justify a change.

The head is black, and it has a ring of black on the first segment of its body, and two rews of black spots on each side. The perfect insect is about half an inch in length, of a thick, oval shape, and of a yellowish cream color, with with ten black lines running lengthwise down the wing covers. The head and thorax are of an orange-brown color, spotted and marked with black. KINDRED INSECTS. There is another insect so closely resembling the true Colorado beetle, that it is difficult for any but an experienced entomologist to detect the difference This insect is called Doryphora Juncta. and has the second and third stripes always united behind, and sometimes before, giving it the appearance of having only eight stripes, instead of ten, on the wing covers. The beetle soon after its discovery was found to be moving eastward, at about the average rate of sixty-two miles a year. It crossed the Mississippi river in 1864, and it was calculated by entomologists that it would reach the Atlantic coast in 1878

DAMAGE BY BEETLES. The damages by the beetle are co fined chiefly to the Irish potato, and it is said that they are not foud of certain varieties, such as Peachblow, Early

The report of our correspondent's interview with the President at Gettysburg shows not only that the President is very much alarmed, but that he is in a very bad temper, and that he is puting himself in an attitude that will cause a great deal of troubled to himself if not of the government not only with suspi-cion, but with actual hostility. He assumes, in the face of truth and reason, that any effort by Congress to examine frauds through which his inauguration o the Presidency was accomplished is necessarily an effort against himself and against the office which he holds, and be bristles up in defense of "the inde-pendence of the Executive," as though the Executive were the entire government and as though hostility to fraud were hostility to lawful rule.

All cannot be nominated and some must necessarily be disappointed. The dissatisfaction engendered is however, generally short-lived and soon forgotten in the zeal and de-votion to principle which should guide our action. It is through party organization alone that our principles can be carried out, and no true man must allow his personal preference or individ-ual prejudices to over-ride his party obligations. Men are transient, while principles are eternal, and if they are right and worth contending for, true and faithful adherents will not hesitate to make some sacrifice for their defence.

The suggestion of a correspondent of the Raleigh News, that Judge Schenck withdraw from the candidacy for Su-preme Court Judge (in order to promote harmony) is rather cool, considering that a great many more counties (30 or 40) have declared for Schenck for Associate Justice than for any other one man in the State. Iowa Democracy.

The Washington Post. The Democrats of Iowa are a good deal like a celebrated English General, who fought a battle, not with any hope of winning it, but simply because didn't like to have it said that he had fallen back without firing a shot. There is a great deal that is admirable in the pluck and constancy of the Iowa Democrats. They live in a State which would, in all probability, go Radical the day after the day of judgment, if an election should occur then; but they come up to the scratch every year, just as if they had a sure thing. Let them persevere. One of these days they will have the posteffices and a fereign mission or two as the reward of their good conduct.

Democratic Convention.

At 13 o'clock the Convention was called to order by Jos. A. Haywood, Esq., Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee, who placed in nomination W. H. Bledsoe, Esq., for permanent chairman and he was unanimously

On motion. W. E. Pell was chosen Secretary, and M. Harrison Assistant

Secretary,
The Chairman then in a short speech explained the object of the Convention.
Considerable discussion ensued between Messis. Geo. H. Snow and M. T.
Leach in relation to the number of delegates to be appointed to the State Convention and as to the mode of selecting such delegates.

Mr. Snow was in favor of the Chair-Mr. Snow was in favor of the Chairman appointing two delegates from each township after consultation with the delegations from various townships.

Mr. Leach was in favor of the representatives from each township selecting their delegates without any consultation with the Chairman, and that he be instructed to appoint those selected.

Finally, on motion of C. M. Busbee Esq , it was agreed that a committee of one from each township, and one from each Ward in the city of Raleigh, be appointed to consult together and appoint such delegates—two from each township and two from each Ward.

The committee retired and subsequently reported that they recommen-quently reported that they recommended that the following persons be appointed delegates to the State Convention from Wake county.

Brown, Frank Stronach, J. R. H. Carmer, C. B. Root, D. C. Murray, Thos. C. Fuller, C. M. Busbee, Jos. A. Haywood, R. G. Dunn.

The report of the committee was adopted. During the absence of the Committee, Mr. F. H. Busbee introduced the following resolution, which was adopted,

WHEREAS, By the recent decision of the Homestead case, the unfortunate debtors of North Carolina are prostrated at the mercy of those who hold stale of the legislation of the State is to deprive them of the pitiful exemption they held before the Constitution of 1868. and to permit the evidence of the creditor to disprove the presumption of pay-

Resolved, That this Convention demand from the Legislature the restora-tion of the old exemption as to old debts, and the enactment of a law providing that the evidence of a plaintiff shall not be admissible to repel the presumption of payment as to old debts.

On motion of G H Snow, Esq, Saturday, the 22d of June, was fixed upon as the day for holding a County Convention to nominate candidates for the vention to nominate candidates and Legislature and for the various county officers, and requesting townships to hold their meeting on or before the 15th of June to elect delegates to represent them in said convention.

On motion of Mr. Snow the thanks of the convention were tendered to the Chairman for the able and impartial manner in which he had presided over the deliberations of the Conven-ized to to furnish copies of the proceedings of the Convention to the Democratic papers in the city of Raleigh, and request them to publish the same.

On motion the Convention adjourned.

Township Convention. The adjourned meeting of Raleigh Township Democratic Convention was held at Metropolitan Hall yesterday at 10 A. M. The meeting was called to order by W. H. Bledsoe, Esq., chairman of the Executive Committee, and organized for business by the election of Mr. J. R. H. Carmer as chairman, and the appointment of Mr. J. M. Broughton secretary. The proceedings then begun. A discussion at once arose on the question as to whether every Democrat in good standing, present, was to be a delegate to the County Convention, to meet at 12 M., or whether such delegates should be appointed by the Chairman. This question provoked a lively discussion, which continued until the hour for the assembling of the County Convention, without any decision or plan of action being arrived at or found. So the meeting adjourned, those present going at once into the county meeting.

Judge Reade's Lecture. On Friday evening Hon. E. G. Reade, of the State Supreme Court, delivered a ecture before the law class of Judge Strong. His subject was "Courtesies and Duties of the Bar." The subject was one which, in the skilful hands of Judge Reade, was made practical and interesting. He advised his hearers of the proper course to pursue if they would attain success in life, giving, in the kindest manner, much of the best practical advice.

After concluding the lecture he gave the class an examination. The questions propounded were answered in greater part with readiness and correctness. The Judge took occasion, at the close of the examination, to state to the class that if they did as well at their real examination in a few days, they might consider their calling and election

This, the last lecture of the term, concludes a series which have proved of most material aid to the class, giving it a decided advantage over others in the

Election, Thursday, August 1st. Professor Mangum, of Chape

Hill, delivered the literary address to the Graham High School, on Friday.

An Alamance correspondent says a along the Orange and Alamance line, fine fields of cotton are displayed, and he predicts that in a short time this section will be one of the finest clover and fruit regions in North Carolina.

A STONEWALL correspondent of the mentions a recent hail storm, some of the stones being as large as half pound weights, many of which buried themselves in the earth, but the storm was of such short duration that no serious damage was done to growing crops.

REPORTS from the Bay River section say the prospects for a good stand of cotton are average. The stand of corn is rather broken, but we have plenty of time to restore it if the weather continues tavorable. Wheat is much injured by rust. More sweet potatoes planted than ever before known. Other crops are fine.

THE Haw River correspondent of the News, notes great improvements in Alamance. New houses are going up at Company Shops, Graham, Haw River and Swepsonville. The number of cotton factories in Alamance will soon be increased. Only a few more good sites for factories for sale along Haw River and the Big Alamance. Money could not be better invested.

THE list of Legislative nominees is growing. The names presented will strike the reader as not those of unknown gentlemen. So far, the nominations have been of the first order, and it is by presenting such men for legislative position and sending them up, backed by good majorities, that the Democratic party may look to maintain its supremacy in North Carolina, and through her Legislature produce good results at home, and exert the influences abroad that belongs to a great State.

A Pamlico correspondent writing of the nominations for the House in Beaufort and Pamlico says:-"Dr. Frank Latham is one of the best and most successful farmers in Beaufort county, and in every sense a proper person to represent the interests of the people of his section, and of the State, in the lower House of the General Assembly," Of Captain W. T. Caho, late Senator from the Second District, and again recommended for nomination to the same position, this correspondent says:-"Tue recommendation of our present and worthy Senator for a re-nomination to the Senate was a just tribute, for I am sure there is not a Democrat in Beaufort or Pamlico who does not desire his return to the place he before so ably and acceptably filled."

THE Rocky Mount Mail says of the Nash county candidate for the Legislature:-"The name of Geo. N. Lewis for a seat in the House of Representatives will awaken great enthusiasm in Nash, and the fact that his name is on our ticket is a sufficient guarantee that no honorable effort will be left undone to insure not only success, but an increased Democratic majority in the county." Captain Lewis is one of the solid men of that sterling old county; represented Nash before and during the war, and has been sheriff for ten years. the vote was announced the three He is absolutely invincible at home. A gentlemen withdrew their names and gallant soldier of the war, in which he made the nomination of Mr. Waddell was wounded, an excellent and popular gentleman of ability and influence, he The News places the name of Colonel

CAPTAIN W. S. HARRIS, of Franklin, candidate for Senator from the seventh district, is most highly spoken of and appreciated by those who know him. He commanded a company in the late war, is a man of fine sense and a live Democrat. His colleague, Dr. King, of Wilson, has before been noticed in these columns. The people of Franklin, Nash and Wilson, have no room for fault with their Senatorial nominees. Speaking of them, the Rocky Mount Mail says :-"Dr. King has the reputation of being a fine speaker and an exceedingly able lebater, while Mr. Harris is an intelligent, educated farmer, well advised upon public matters, and will prove to be one of those that carry truths directly to the hearts of the people. They are both excellent men, and will make able and faithful Senators. It is needless to say that Nash will hold up their hands and magnanimously sustain them at the polls in August next."

Important to Tobacco Growers. The next issue of the Durham Tobacco Plant will contain an excellent and exhaustive article on the raising, curing and hauling of tobacco, written specially for that paper by a gentleman whose long experience gives him full and comprehensive knowledge on the subject.

This is a matter of great importance o all those new beginners just entering on the culture of tobacco, of which there are a large number within the extended area now being devoted to tobacco growing in North Carolina, and all such would do well to write and re quest a copy of the paper, which will be sent free to all, on application.

There can be no doubt that tobacco is now the most profitable crop grown in the State, and this industry, extending from the mountains to the sea shore, is capable of almost limitless development, and it behooves all to avail themselves of the largest experience and best intelligence respecting the production of this important crop.

Hon. James Grant. This distinguished adopted citizen of Iowa, an eminent lawyer and Judge of the Northwest, is now in the city, the home of his ancestors and of his youth. He is on the way to the Chapel Hill Commencement to mingle with the few survivors of the class with whom he graduated at the University, forty seven vears ago.

Forty years ago Judge Grant was a school teacher in Raleigh. His father had been Comptroller of the State, and the monument to his memory stands in the old city cemetery. Coming of a you go in the directiion of Chapel Hill family distinguished for talent, he acquired the profession of the law, and going West achieved honor, distinction and wealth.

He has proved a friend in need to relatives and connections in North Carelina, and a public benefactor to the State. He has done much for the Uni-News, writing from Pamlico county, versity, and is thoroughly enlisted in the cause of education in his native Carolina. On Wednesday he will deliver an address at Chapel Hill.

This gentleman steps among us from the ranks of a former generation; comes back to the land of his nativity, full of years and full of honors, and the News is glad to record his presence, for it is not often that a more distinguished or meritorious son of the old North State wanders back to note the changes wrought by time, and mark the absence of so many of the companions of

The Investigation.

Potter and his committee have got to work, and the public may prepare itself for some interesting reading for the next short while.

The proclamation of danger to the country, issued by the Republicans, countersigned by a few weak-kneed Democrats, will now change into protests of indignation as the process of developing Radical villany goes on.

Yesterday's proceedings were not without interest. The tale of the triumph in Louisiana began to be told. The public mind was carried back to the period of promises of pensions and rewards for rascality to be performed. A letter of Mr. John Sherman, assuring the plotters and tools of his intimacy with and knowledge of Mr. Hayes, his wishes and intentions, was read. An endorsement on an application for office, signed by R. B. Hayes, was presented, and the request of the President to Mr. Evarts, to "send this man to a warm climate," this being a "special case," was read. It goes a long ways toward assuring the country of the genuineness of these documents, that the Republicans on the committee voted solidly to suppress and not read the letters, except old Ben Butler, and he dodged. There was nothing either new or remarkable in this proceeding. It is the true Radical way, with which the public is as familiar as with the rising and setting of the

Let the alarmists and croakers now quiet themselves. If there shall in the end be nothing developed, there can be no revolution. But if instead of revolution we have astounding revelation, the intelligence and manhood of the Democratic party will be found equal to the emergencies of any occasion that campaign of 1878, and throughout the contest will give him a warm and earnest support. Representing the counties of Bladen, Brunswick, Carteret, Columbus, Cumberland, Duplin, Harnett, Moore, New Hanover, Onslow and Sampson, the intelligent and appreciative people of that great section of the country have decided to continue him in the Congressional service. Thus endorsed and preferred by the majority, in the District to fall into line and bring the full Democratic strength to the polls in November. Colonel Waddell occupies a conspicuous position in Congress. An able and accomplished gentleman, he has secured a good influence in the House of Representatives, and may be said to have acquired a national reputation. He has done good service for his District and State, and if backed by a united constituency in his party, and sustained by the Democratic strength of his people, he will accomplish much more. If there have been divisions and differnces of opinion in the Cape Fear District they should now be permitted to no longer exist, but, conforming to the expressed wish of the party, every one should unite in sustaining the nomina-

North Carolina in Congress. The Democratic delegation in Congress from this State occupies a high and influential position in the councils of the

It can but be gratifying to every North Caroli ian o note this fact, and it should be he constant aim and effort of our people to keep the fact in sight to the end that the masses may learn to appreciate the true dignity and position of the State abroad.

The Washington correspondent of the News says he may be accused of occupying much space in praise of the North Carolina delegation, but the gentlemen comprising it are responsible therefor. He continues :- "If, as a unit, they have taken a stand not inferior to any other delegation here, the fact asserts itself, and will not down at my bidding. It is a fact, and I record it again, as I have frequently done before, with great pride and pleasure."

It is no small achievement for Southern State to have regained her position in the Congress of the United States after the long train of disastrous events that began to transpire in 1861. Ten years ago the carpet-bagger and his companions debauched the honor and reputation of North Carolina at Washington. There was Abbott and Pool in the . Senate: in the House, French, Heaton, Dockery, Deweese, Lash, Boyden and Jones, solidly Radical and four of them absolutely unknown in the State, mere adventurers, as it were, who came in on the wave of

Now it is entirely different. In the Senate, Ransom and Merrimon; in the House, Yeates, Waddell, Davis, Scales, Steele, Robbins, Vance, and but one Republican, Governor Brogden. The State is now, as then, judged by her representatives; and what a change for the better? North Carolinians no longer haug their heads in the metropolis of the Nation; now they visit the Capitol, and are entertained at the spectacle of their State honorably and ably represented among the delegations of the great States of the North and West : some of our representatives occupying the position of chairmen on important committees.

It is the general verdict of all visitors to the National Capital, the correspondents and journalists, that no delegation in Congress ranks higher than our own, receives more consideration, or wields more influence for the good of the State. This is something for the Demoeracy of North Carolina to cherish, and the News trusts that the public appreciation of the people may be as high as the merit of the party's representatives is found to be.

Professor John Wise, of Philadelphia, high authority, writes to the Richmond Dispatch relative to the striking of the chimney of a house in Richmond by lightning, in which Dr. Taylor lived, although the roof was covered with tin. As Prof. Wise has had a long observation, and what he says is important and instructive, we copy a part of his letter. He says:

'A metal roof does not prevent the building from being struck by a thunderbolt; it only saves the building and its contents from injury by the bolt. The metal surface acts as a correlative to the electrical force; a bolt striking a metal roof punches a hole through the metal never more than an inch and a quarter in diameter, and it burns the underside by turning the burrs, scroll form, outwards. Of a number examined by me, one of them I presented to Prof. Joseph Henry, of the Smithsonian Institute. The bolt referred to struck the chimney first, and hence would not puncture the tin, but under microscopic examination you will find the tin singed And if you will examine the mechanical fects of the bolt on the chimney you will find that the projectile came from the west or southwest most likely. They all come from that direction in the northern temperate zone. I say without hesitation that a dwelling, or building, having a metal roof presenting a surface of 1,500 square feet, or more, is insufficiently protected from the destructive effects of thunderbolts. Solomon's temple, standing at a place very subject to thunderbolts of the heaviest kind, escaped, during all its time of standing, the effects of lightning, because it was literally covered with metal, and of the finest kind. The finer the metal the less it takes to

Internal Improvement.

Greensboro Patriot. It is an incontestable fact that there is no railroad in operation to-day in this State which may be properly called a North Carolina road. The North Carolina Railroad was intended to be such, and it was at one time thought that it would build up Wilmington and Beaufort, and make great cities there. What it might have done under an enlightened State policy we cannot tel!, but we do know that it has built up no great city and that it never will. It is simply a feeder to the roads that run into and build up cities in other States. The same might be said of the Raleigh and Augusta, and the Wilmington and Weldon, and Wilmington and Charlotte roads, all of which are tributaries to the shipping ports of Virginia. What North Carolina needs and what she must have before she can hold her own in competition with surrounding States, is a system of internal improvements by land and water-by rail, canal and river which will draw wealth into the State instead of carrying it out, which will develop our own resources and draw from our neighbors, instead of being mere highways for the convenience o through traffic and travel for the benefit of rival cities in other States.

Beaufort.

Correspondent in the Atlantic. Of Beaufort as a watering place, I must say one word. Although hundreds go there during the warm weather, for the pleasure and health it gives, the Summer is not far distant when thousands will find resort there; some tired of the labor and lassitude of the farm; others sick of the dull monoton; of the counting room; and others still wearied with the restless care of professional life, will gather upon these sand cliffs and drink in with the ocean' breeze, health and vigor. I have had the pleasure of a Summer at Newport, Narragansett Pier, and other watering places of the Northern cities, and not one can compare in its pleasures, save in that charm which fashionable society lends to your Northern rivals. An when North Carolina finds out and appreciates the enjoyments of Beaufort what better or more cultivated society can you have, than when her fair ladies and knightly gentlemen gather togeth-

Sampson Resolutions. That our Eastern counties furnishing so many of the laborers to build Western Railroads feel now that we want our convict labor at home, and that our Representatives in the next General Assembly be requested to use their utmost endeavors to secure the passage of a bill providing for the drainage and reclamation of the swamp lands of Sampson and improving the navigation of Black river and its tributaries.

Mr. F. Morreil, Bangor, Me., July 2, 1873, writes: "Six months ago my friends thought me incurable, suffering from Weakness, Disordered Stomach and Fever, The doctors gave me no benefit. LEE'S PREPARED AGRICULTURAL LIME.

To The Cotton Growers of North Carolina.

The Commissioner of Agriculture having decided that I cannot have an Agency in your State for the sale of this cheap and valuable pertilizer, without paying a tax of $00—which I cannot do without materially advancing the price, I solicit your orders for it, which will be promptly filled on the following terms on board cars in Richmond:

$12 Per Ton Cash, or $15 Per TON for an approved acceptance on Raleigh, Charlotte, Wilmington, Petersburg, Norfolk, or Richmond, payable on the 1st of November next, or at 8 months from date.

I respectfully refer you to Messrs. J. J. Thomas, Raleigh; J. W. O'Neil, Clayton and others who sold it last spring, and to the various farmers who used it, who say it makes as much cotton as fertilizers costing 3 or 4 times as much. Address.

For Chapel Hill.

To-morrow and Tuesday numbers of our city belles and beaux, as well as not a few older heads, leave to attend the Commencement exercises at Chap i Hill. The programme promises much that is festive and also a large amount of discourse. Full reports of the proceedings will appear in the News.

A Lively Time.

This week will be a lively one so far as matters legal are concerned, for the Supreme Court, the U.S. Circuit Court, the Criminal Court, and also the County Commissioners' Court will all be in session. It is probable that the number of persons in attendance upon there courts will be large.

The June number of this magazine, so rapidly finding favor and growing in regard with our people, lies before us.
As usual a glance at the table of contents shows that the subject matter is in every way worthy of attentive perusal. The beautiful Memorial ode of Mrs. Margaret J. Preston, one of the sweetest, most graceful of our Southern poets, 18 first to arrest the eye of the reader. Then follow numerous well written articles on various topics, historical, hu morous etc., This magazine is deservedly finding favor with Carolinians.

Sudden Deats. Yesterday morning, at an early hour, the body of Mrs. Kate Barrett, white, was found dead in her bed, at her res idence on Davie Street, opposite the old Fair Grounds. At the time of her death the deceased was about 60 years of age. Coroner Hampson was promptly notified, and at once summoned a jury of inquest. This, after due denbSanitary Report.

Health Officer Goodwin gives a particularly favorable report of the sanitary condition of our city. He asserts it to be better than for years, at this season. It is hoped that we may continue to thus be protected from the thousand dangers the summer brings, but it will not do to lay on our oars. The work of examination and diligent search for all nuisances or pest-breeding places, must be thorough and continuous. Only by such vigorous effort can we hope for a healthy season. So far as possible dangers can be guarded against, all that can be, should be done. The officer asks, and should have the best support of all in his mission of health.

Greensboro Excursionists.

On Tuesday the Methodist Sunday School of Greensboro will visit our city, as excursionists. The number will doubtless be large. It is suggested that delegates from each of our Sunday Schools meet them at the depot, on arrival, and carry them to the various churches, &c., show them all points of interest and extend every courtesy possible. This should be done, and their visit made thus specially enjoyable Let them be looked after carefully and attentively. A few days ago the Bap-tist School of Goldsboro visited our city, and, we fear, through inadvertence, did not receive the attention from the Sunday Schools of our city which vis-itors to the Capitol, of kindred associations, should receive at the hands of their brethren.

Shooting Affair. Last night about 11:30, as John Lockhart, a colored youth, was passing along Salisbury street, at the corner of McDowell he was knocked down by a party of several young men, and struck with a stick while on the ground. Rising, he ran away, when three pistol shots were fired at him by two of the party. A bullet struck him in the calf of the leg, and he fell. The report of the pistol at once attracted attention, and the police made their appearance on the scene. The wounded youth was carried home and the wound looked after. It seems that Lockhart was in company with a young man, and that the latter had paused for a moment to speak to the boys who made the attack. The trial of the case will probably be held to-morrow.

Runaway and Accident.

As Mr. Wm. M. Boylan, jr., was driving his double team down New Berne Avenue yesterday afternoon, the horses became frightened when near the old Rourke place, and started off at a terrific pace. Mr. Boylan was thrown from his seat and fell to the ground ing at Masonic Hall to-morrow even- with violence, the wheels of the buggy passing over him, causing injuries of a tolerably severe character. Mr. Boylan was accompanied in his drive by a young lady, who was so fortunate as to retain her seat in the vehicle, until a sudden stop of the horses caused her to fall also. Fortunately she fell on her feet, and was not in the least injured. —Scott Brown, the barber, has Burke Haywood, at whose hands he re-Mr. Boylan was attended by Dr. E. ceived every attention.

Messis. W. H. & C. D. Edwards, of Morrisville, are reported as having brought the greatest quantity of oats, and the finest. Maj. R. S. Tucker has distanced all in the quantity and quality of hav sold this season.

In addition to the above, the following have also been weighed: Live stock, lbs., 21,680; coal, 7,180; castings, From the reports of farmers there is every prospect of a larger crop of hay and oats this year than last.

A Good Cause.

Mr. Jonah Boughton, noted all ove the Union as an earnest advocate of the cause of temperance, will deliver an address at Tucker Hall this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The lecturer, although comparatively unknown to most of our people, having never been in our State before, is spoken of by the press, particularly in Virginia, as a speaker of great power. He relates in a thrilling manner, his own experience with and escape from the demon drink. In view of the fact that as an advocate of temperance Mr. Boughton possesses such marked ability, it is hoped that our people will avail themselves of this opportunity to hear the noble cause eloquently advocated and its dangers truthfully portrayed in all their horror.

There will be no charge for admittance. All are cordially and earnestly invited. There will be good music, songs etc.

A Manifest Absurdity. It is manifestly abourd to claim for a mere stimulant, tonic and niterative properties. Yet this is what is daily done by the vandors of cheap local bitters, colored to make them look attractive, and agrees by flavored, but the alcoholic basis of which is of the vilest and most hurtful description. To transcendent success of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the leading alterative tonic of the United States, has induced many of these compounders of drams in disguise, to attempt the counterfeiting of this standard medicine, but their efforts have never proved successful on a large scale, and they have themselves in many instances notoriously "come to grief," through the instrumentality of the law. law.

The genuine Ritters have indeed, a spirituous basis, but they are emphatically a medicine, wince their botanic ingredients are signally efficacious in overcoming and preventing chilis and fever, dyspepsia, liver complaint, constipation, and many other disorders.
